DESCRIPTION

What if the true value of a home lay in its ability to evolve with those who live there?

In the heart of the peaceful village of Cremin, surrounded by the Vaud countryside and the rolling landscapes of the Broye region, this village property offers a particularly rare layout: three living units under one roof, with further potential for expansion.

It could become a large family home, allowing multiple generations to live together while preserving everyone's independence. It could accommodate parents, adult children, a blended family, or simply provide separate spaces for entertaining.

But it also opens the door to another way of homeownership: living in one of the units and renting out the other two, so you can earn rental income while still enjoying your own home.

The two 2.5-room apartments on the ground floor and the spacious duplex on the upper floors thus allow for a variety of living arrangements, both now and in the future.

The property also has the potential to create an additional unit, subject to the necessary permits, offering even more possibilities in the long term.

Just a few minutes from Lucens and its amenities, Cremin preserves what has become increasingly precious today: tranquility, greenery, the authenticity of a village, and a sense of space.

A home that doesn't dictate how you live, but adapts to your lifestyle.
